

Brussels, 12 March 2013 > FEFCO - Starring...Mr Corrugated!

As part of its recently launched advertising campaign promoting the benefits of corrugated packaging, FEFCO, the umbrella organisation of the European Corrugated Board Industry, has released a film featuring brand ambassador and star of the campaign, Mr. Corrugated.

Focusing on key benefits including the industry standard of the “five easies”, Mr Corrugated highlights how corrugated packaging answers the fundamental needs of the majority of stakeholders across the supply chain: it’s easy to identify, easy to open, easy to get on shelf, easy to access and easy to flatten and recycle.

At the end of the film, stakeholders are encouraged to visit the ‘Corrugated of Course’ website (www.corrugated-ofcourse.eu), further establishing it as an essential resource which brings together the latest news and stories to highlight how corrugated can bring value in all areas of the supply chain.

Ben Blydenstein, Marketing and Environment Director at FEFCO, comments:

“Mr. Corrugated focuses attention on the many benefits of corrugated packaging and raises the profile of the ‘Corrugated of Course’ website as an in-depth and easily accessible resource.”
